

Special offer to qualifying article writers.

QUArt is a system that produces high quality articles in three formats for each keyword in the system, HTML, HTM, and TXT. Each keyword article is spun separately for each format. So if we have 20 keywords in the system, 60 unique articles will be spun. Each article has unique formatting, and can have affiliate or other links embedded.

Getting the content ready for QUArt is done in four phases.

- Keyword research is carried out, and keywords grouped together in such a way, that if any member of the group is dropped into the same article, it would still make sense without having to rewrite. Keywords can be singular, or plural, and there will probably be several keyword groups.
- The seed article is written with the keyword group in mind.
- For each sentence, several new ones are written to add new structural variation, or introduce another idea.
- For each new sentence, {spintax} is added for even more variation.
- The whole lot is passed over to me, Glenn Leader, to be added to the content creation system.

This is a lot of work and only worth the effort if we can be pretty sure that we'll be able to sell over one hundred or so copies. If you want to license the system from me, this can be arranged. One final option is to spin several hundred copies, and hand the whole lot over to you, with a branding script.

One possibility is that Simple Article Websites can be bundled with article packs to allow buyers the chance to build a HTML website in seconds. Other parts of the article package can be used to gain backlinks. On Squidoo for example. Simple Article Websites is software developed by me to create pure HTML websites from folders of articles.

To get the ball rolling, please send an email to quart@glennleader.com outlining your proposal. I can't take on all comers, I have to be very selective. I hope we can talk business.
